Proof of insurance is required for this license. COI REQUIRED*

A license is required for each location or outlet within the state from which the person distributes pesticides. Yearly reporting of sales is required. Reports of restricted use sales for the period July 1st to June 30th, and are due by July 31st of each year.

DOING BUSINESS AS DBA: A DBA is a name that represents the business in place of the owners first and last name (if an individual), or the legal name of the business entity, where applicable (such as a corporation or LLC). It is also referred to as "fictitious business names, assumed business names and trade names". All these terms mean the same thing.

BUSINESS TYPES

Sole Proprietorship: Is a business entity that is owned and run by one individual. There is no legal distinction between the owner and the business.

Partnership: Is a business entity where owners, called partners, share both the risks and benefits of the business. This includes any profits or debts.

Corporation: Is treated as a separate entity from the owners of the business. This type of business consists of a number of shareholders, each of whom has some say in the company's actions. The more shares held by an individual, the more votes they have regarding company policies. In addition to being treated as a separate legal entity, corporations are often given the same rights as human beings in certain legal matters.

Limited Liability Company (LLC): According to the US Internal Revenue Service, a limited liability company, similar to a corporation, allows owners to have limited personal liability for debts and actions of the company. The LLC also has features of the partnership structure, which provides management flexibility and the benefit of pass-through taxation. Owners of a LLC are often referred to as members. Most US states do not restrict this type of ownership.
